ABOUT THE PLAY

"The Silver Whistle" tells the tale of a vagabond and a dreamer whose lies and fantasies transform the humdrum lives of the inhabitants of an old folks home. Robert E. McEnroe's first Broadway production opened in New York on November 24, 1948 with Jose Ferrer in the key role of Oliver Erwenter. The critics and public gave it instant approval and the "The Silver Whistle" piped along to the tune of 217 performances before taking to the road.

In Lincoln, "The Silver Whistle" was presented by the Community Players as their 28th consecutive production, running from February 2nd through February 12th, 1951. This earlier local presentation was directed by Karl Sittler, and featured Nora Osborn, Opal Palmer and Clair Rickel in the same roles as they are in tonight.
