Bethany Branch Library - October 9th, 2015

Title	Author	A little bit of info...
Inside the O'Briens	Lisa Genova	Joe O'Brien is a Boston Police Officer. Born and raised in Boston, he has survived the Marathon bombing; he has survived the heartbreak of being a RedSox fan; he has survived raising four kids born within five years. Now he has to survive a life-altering disease.
In the Unlikely Event	Judy Blume	In the winter of 1951-1952, three planes crash into the city of Elizabeth, New Jersey leaving the residents forever changed. Based on true events in Judy Blume's youth, we see how life really is a series of unlikely events.
The Burgess Boys	Elizabeth Strout	Zach has done something stupid and is in need of legal help. Luckily for him, his two uncles happen to be powerful attorneys in New York. Unluckily for him, his uncles hate returning to Maine and despise anything that reminds them of their childhood.
All the Light We Cannot See	Anthony Doerr	The story of Marie-Laure, a blind 12 year old, hiding from the Germans in France, and young Werner, whose intelligence has earned him a place in Hitler's Youth. War, brutality, secrets yet compassion shines through.
The Boston Girl	Anita Diamant	It's 1915 and 15 year old Addie Baum is ready to take on the world, go to college, fall in love, wear short skirts. But her immigrant parents have different ideas for her.
Go Set a Watchman	Harper Lee	You've heard the hype and the disappointment. But Scout Finch is still the girl you've always loved.
Drunken Fireworks	Stephen King	Alden McCausland and his mother are what they call "accident rich"; thanks to an unexpected life-insurance policy payout. This is the story of how they spend their summers competing with the "real rich."
It Was Me All Along	Andie Mitchell	A very raw and moving memoir about someone who has been through the spectrum of eating disorders and come out the other side.
Everything I Never Told You	Celeste Ng	Lydia is the oldest and favorite daughter of Marilyn and James Lee, a Chinese-American family in the 1970s. She has so much potential – the doctor her mother wanted to be, the popular kid her father yearned for. Until she ends up dead. And everything unravels.
A Paris Affair	Tatiana de Rosnay	Short Stories. All having to do with the cheating liars that are Parisian men!
The Folded Clock	Heidi Julavits	After finding her childhood diaries, Heidi realizes how important chronicling daily life can be. This is her entertaining journal as a woman in her forties.

Title	Author	A little bit of info...
The Mystery Writers of America Cookbook	Kate White	“Wickedly good” recipes from Lee Child, Louise Penny, Gillian Flynn, Harlan Coben, Sue Grafton and more.
Girl on the Train	Paula Hawkins	A woman glimpses what she thinks may have been a horrific crime on her morning commute in this Hitchcockian thriller.
Jezebel Remedy	Martin Clark	Lisa and Joe Stone are married small town lawyers who get drawn into investigating the “accidental” demise of one of their most colorful clients.
The Gigantic Beard That Was Evil	Stephen Collins	Fable taking place on the comfortable and pristine island of Here, surrounded by the chaotic, unknowable There, and what happens when the two meet.
The Truth According to Us	Annie Barrows	A spoiled senator’s daughter is sent to a small town in West Virginia as part of the WPA to record the town’s history.
The Murder Man	Tony Parsons	Maverick Detective Max Wolfe links the murders of an investment banker and a homeless junkie to an incident at a posh boys’ school years ago.
Talking to the Dead	Harry Bingham	Fiona Griffiths is a rookie cop who is short on social skills and has a reputation for being too intense. This doggedness and a willingness to defy both orders and protocol helps her to unravel a murder that reveals a crime deeper than anyone had imagined.
Broadchurch	BBC America	Atmospheric, character-driven series about a murder in a small town.
Finding Vivian Maier	John Maloof	Amateur historian comes across a cache of unknown photos from a woman now considered one of the 20 th century’s greatest street photographers.
Manhattan Mayhem	Mary Higgins Clark	New short stories from dozens of mystery writers, all taking place throughout NYC.
Voracious	Cara Nicoletti	A hungry reader cooks her way through great books.
How to Be a Grown-Up	Emma McLaughlin	40-something stay at home mom suddenly finds herself back in the work force and navigating the politics (and headaches) of dealing with a boss who is half her age.
Murderer’s Daughter	Jonathan Kellerman	Psychologist Grace Blades’s newest patient is murdered hours after seeing her, and she is drawn into figuring out the eerie similarities between his past and her own.
